February 2013

ConPolicy – the Institute for Consumer Policy – is celebrating its third anniversary!
Thank you very much for your support in the previous years.

Last year the Institute implemented a privacy innovation project for the German Federal Consumer Protection Ministry (BMELV), and worked together with a diverse set of partners including the European Commission, the German Federal Ministry for Social Affairs, the German Council for Sustainable Development, the German Foundation Consumer Protection, the NRW Ministries for Consumer Protection, Economy and Science and corporate partners such as quirin bank, Siemens, REWE and Deutsche Bank.

This year the Institute will expand its research and consulting services on the national and European level and initiate new projects in the realm of social media analysis.

We look forward to continuing our work together moving forward!
